

Permission to Access the Route from the Landowner

When the route was inspected in 2015 it was accessible on foot along the full length. No signs were evident indicating whether the route was considered to be public or private and it was noted that all of the adjacent properties had direct access onto the route and that a number of them stored their rubbish bins along it.