Art and Design

Welcome to the 2024/2025 Art and Design Course offer. Below you will find the range of CPD opportunities available to you over the next academic year.

Our popular termly network meetings are the main source of support for schools with content ensuring schools are informed of up-to-date guidance around the teaching, learning and assessment of art and design. Each meeting will also focus on aspects of effective subject leadership as well as practical ideas to share with colleagues in school and to use with children in class.

Our courses will also link to invaluable resources that we will share or signpost to, helping schools to provide the best educational experiences for all pupils.

We also provide an Effective Subject Leadership in Primary Art course which is suitable for new subject leaders as well as established ones who might feel they would benefit from cutting edge guidance around the role of the subject leader for art.

Two new courses this year complement our art and design offering, with a focus on specific areas of the curriculum.

- Practical Primary Drawing Skills will unpick the progression in drawing across the primary phase as well as explore a variety of practical ideas to enhance the children's learning of drawing.
- Practical Printmaking will also look at the progression in this area as well as allow teachers to engage in a variety of printmaking opportunities that can be shared with colleagues and used with children in the classroom.

Assessment and PIVATS

Welcome to the 2024/2025 Assessment Course offer. On the following pages, you will find a wide range of CPD opportunities available for the next academic year. This includes a mix of support to develop classroom practice and around the statutory elements of assessment in primary settings. In addition, we offer several courses which explore formative assessment and teaching and learning (You may also want to look for more opportunities of these in the Great Teaching section of this publication).

Elaine Williams

From a statutory perspective, if you or a member of your team is new to a year group where a statutory assessment takes place, then you may wish to attend a session related to that particular aspect of assessment. For example, a new Year 6 teacher would find – the newly updated Year 6: Understanding the Procedures, invaluable, or NEW to EYFSP which supports colleagues in Early Years develop their understanding of the profile and how to plan and prepare for this throughout the year. For experienced colleagues and senior leaders, we provide the annual Access Arrangements sessions, and the ever-popular range of understanding data sessions which have been extended this year.

For schools looking to develop formative assessment we offer:

- Rosenshine's Principles of Instruction
A series of four half day sessions where we investigate the theory of Rosenshine's Principles and consider how these can be applied within the primary classroom.
- Using and developing Knowledge Organisers
An opportunity to consider ways to make knowledge 'sticky' and how knowledge organisers can be created and implemented to support with this.

The Great Teaching section contains a range of courses linked to all elements of formative assessment, including the extremely popular Adaptive and Responsive Teaching, Questioning, and also Maximising the Impact of Teaching Assistants.

There are also several new offers available, including:

- Writing moderation sessions for Year 1, Year 3, Year 4 and Year 5. These are led by consultants from the English and Assessment teams and provide helpful guidance to secure an effective evidence base for assessment via quality outcomes across a range of narrative, non-fiction and poetry text types, and the chance to take part in professional conversations around standards in children's writing in these year groups.
- Reception Baseline – Making it work for you. A brand-new course that looks at the essential information EYFS practitioners need in the first few weeks, how to collect this effectively and then how to apply this within classroom provision.
- Like a Moderator! The opportunity to receive the same training as Key Stage 2 moderators and benefit from the most up to date training materials produced by the Standards and Testing Agency (STA).

Welcome to the PIVATS section of the 2024-2025 course offer.

PIVATS continues to grow in popularity as an assessment resource for children with SEND. It helps to measure small steps of progress and celebrates what children can do, whilst helping colleagues identify gaps in learning and areas for focused teaching and intervention.

We are gradually adding extension packs to our PIVATS products to support teachers in developing inclusive practice and in planning for provision to meet the learning needs of children with SEND, particularly in mainstream settings or in specialist units attached to mainstream schools.

To find out more, see the courses which follow, or have a look at the PIVATS section on the LPDS website.

Behaviour

Welcome to the 2024-25 Professional Development Programme for Supporting Behaviour in Primary Schools.

Research underscores the significant impact of poor pupil behaviour on the school learning environment. The Education Endowment Foundation (EEF) highlights that managing pupil behaviour is one of the most challenging tasks for both new and experienced teachers. It is also a persistent issue contributing to teacher retention.

Diane Sheron

In response to the evolving needs of our Lancashire schools, this year's programme offers a comprehensive range of CPD opportunities. These are designed to empower both experienced teachers and those new to the profession with the skills needed to effectively manage and support pupil behaviour. You will find a range of courses tailored to address classroom-level challenges, providing strategies to enhance individual teaching practices and support colleagues in managing behaviour effectively. Additionally, whole-school review sessions that delve into school culture, relational behaviour policies, and the implementation of Trauma-Informed Approaches. These sessions aim to improve outcomes not only for vulnerable pupils, but for all, by fostering a supportive and understanding school environment.

Recognising the increasing prevalence of neurodiverse conditions, we have introduced new cross-phase courses bridging primary and secondary education. These courses are focused on understanding and supporting students with Autism Spectrum Condition (ASC), Pathological Demand Avoidance (PDA), and Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD).

Additionally, you might want to explore our new cross phase behaviour support for Early Career Teachers. These sessions are designed to provide the foundational skills needed to navigate the complexities of student behaviour from the outset of their teaching careers.

We are also running cross-phase Behaviour Network Meetings termly, which are a great opportunity for behaviour leads and SLT to meet, receive updates, receive bitesize training from guest speakers and explore real-life case studies and pathways of support for pupils at risk of exclusion.

We are committed to supporting our schools in creating positive, inclusive, and effective learning environments. Thank you for exploring our CPD offer.

Computing

Welcome to the course offer for computing for 2024-2025. This outlines the range of courses that school staff can attend this school year.

We have several useful courses for those individuals managing this subject. Those that are new or who have not been leading the subject for long will find the 'New to Subject Leadership in Primary Computing' a very informative introduction to this subject. All computing subject leaders will benefit from attending the Primary Computing Subject Leader Meetings. These courses look at many different aspects that support this subject including key updates such as those from Ofsted and DfE, new strategies and activities, and documents that subject leaders need to support their subject.

Those teachers or subject leaders wanting to keep up to date with online safety should consider attending the 'Online Safety for Primary Schools'. This course is updated every time it is run to make sure the content is as current as possible. The course discusses key safeguarding documents, as well as considering how this area can be supported in the classroom. There is also a separate course, 'Online safety for governors', which is run every term. This subject area is a popular choice for schools to request as a school-based session for staff, pupils, or parents.

Both the 'Sticky learning in computing' course and 'Effective teaching and learning in primary computing' are suitable for both subject leaders and teaching staff. The latter looks at the core elements of this subject and how to teach it in the classroom, including how to teach programming and computational thinking. The sticky learning course looks at pupil learning in depth, including strategies on how to optimise the teaching of computing.

Another course that might appeal to both computing teachers and leaders, as well as those supporting outdoor learning is 'The Outdoors Unplugged - Primary Computing'. This course looks at lots of different activities, some practically, on how to support computing outside of the classroom. The content looks at a range of areas of computing including programming and computer networks.

Remember that all these courses can be run as school-based sessions.

Design Technology

The information below outlines the Primary Design Technology courses for 2024-2025. DT is a very practical subject and schools will often request school-based consultancies and training that are more specific to the needs of the individual school. We are happy to support these needs.

Subject leaders new to this area of the curriculum, will find attending the 'New to Subject Leadership in Primary DT' course a useful introduction to fully understanding the breadth and needs of this subject. This is a practical course that discusses all areas of the primary DT curriculum. Further support for subject leaders is given through the 'Primary Design and Technology Subject Leader Network Meetings' either online or in face-to-face courses. The latter option allows the more practical elements of the sessions to be covered fully.

Those subject leaders needing more support to understand assessment and progression within this subject should attend the 'Assessment and Progression in Primary DT'. This course has lots of school-based examples of work as well as providing examples of yearly expectations.

'Designing, Making and Programming in Design Technology in Primary Schools' is a practical course looking at a number of different primary DT curriculum strands including programming, monitoring and control, computer-aided design and other areas of design such as exploded diagrams. This course is useful for both DT and computing subject leaders, as well as KS2 teachers.

Further DT courses that would be suitable for DT teachers and subject leaders are 'Effective Teaching and Learning in Primary DT' and 'Sticky Learning In DT'. The latter course looks at how to help pupils enhance their learning of knowledge and skills and the importance of problem solving in DT, while the 'Effective Teaching and Learning in Primary DT' course looks at the core elements of DT for teaching and learning and spends time on the importance of evaluation and the iterative process.

The Primary English and Literacy team at LPDS always strive to offer a course programme to meet the needs of all schools with up-to-date key messages, evidence based CPD, support for leaders and practical guidance to support teaching and learning in the classroom. The course programme for 2024-2025 is informed by the national landscape for English, feedback from schools, research by the consultant team and professional intelligence.

The current priorities for the team are to support leaders and teachers with the development of oracy and spoken language approaches, fluency in reading, subject knowledge guidance for teaching a range of text type outcomes in writing, continuing to develop Red Rose Letters and Sounds and Red Rose Spelling suite, and strengthening assessment and moderation in Y1, Y3, Y4 and Y5.

As always, the course programme includes CPD for teachers new to the profession or those moving year groups with the Teaching a Unit of Work in English suite, and subject knowledge support for grammar and age-related expectations.

English leadership remains a core offer via termly headteacher briefings and subject leader networks with cutting-edge updates and CPD materials which can be utilised for training in school.

For schools looking to update curriculum pathways, our English Unit courses (The Highway Rat, 101 Dalmatians and Goodnight Mister Tom) and Aiming High courses in Y3/4 and Y5/6 provide choices for new units of work with quality outcomes for single age and mixed age settings.

In 2024-2025, the ever-popular Talk Programmes are on offer from Nursery to Y6. They provide deep and sustained CPD support with exemplified units, full resources and assessment and moderation support throughout the year. (Please note – schools wishing to join Talk Programmes need to sign up before the first date of the selected programme).

Geography

Welcome to the course offer for primary geography. In the section below we outline the different professional development opportunities for 2024-2025. The courses will help support teachers to implement the primary national curriculum for geography and how geographers work so that they can promote pupil understanding of how they can 'think, work, talk and write like a geographer'.

Some courses are specific to subject leaders. The New to Subject Leadership in Primary Geography looks at how subject leaders can plan, implement, moderate, and assess their primary geography curriculum. Every term there is an opportunity to attend the Geography Subject Leader Network Meetings. This looks at all the key areas of the geography curriculum and keeps subject leaders up-to-date with reports from Ofsted and new resources. If subject leaders want to find more detailed information on assessment then 'Assessment and Progression in Primary Geography' would be an ideal choice. This not only covers assessment expectations and Ofsted advice but also looks at practical activities and school examples.

Those subject leaders or teachers wanting to learn about how to work like a geographer should attend 'Supporting fieldwork and geographical skills in Primary Geography'. This is a practical course looking at progressive activities from EYFS to Year 6. It is also a popular choice for a school-based training session.

One of the aims of geography is to support pupils to write at length.' How to write like a Geographer (Reading, Writing and Oracy in Geography)' looks at writing, reading and oracy progressively in geography, looking at school examples and a whole range of activities that can be used to encourage these elements in this subject. This might appeal to teachers and subject leaders for geography or English.

Any teacher of geography would find the courses 'Effective teaching and learning in primary geography' and 'Sticky learning in geography', useful in their support of teaching this subject. The former is a more general course, looking at all areas of geography and providing advice on how to implement the subject in the classroom while the sticky learning course aims at optimising the learning of the subject in and out of the classroom.

Finally, there is a new course for next year, 'Supporting Sustainability in Primary Geography'. This would be ideal for geography and sustainability leaders. This looks at all the possible opportunities to support sustainability in this subject, including those for fieldwork and geographical skills.

Remember that all these courses can be run as school-based sessions.

Great Teaching

"The best available evidence indicates that great teaching is the most important lever schools have to improve pupil attainment. Ensuring every teacher is supported in delivering high-quality teaching is essential to achieving the best outcomes for all pupils, particularly the most disadvantaged among them." (EEF - High Quality Teaching - Maximising Learning)

Welcome to the 2024/2025 Great Teaching courses offer. Here you will find a wide range of CPD opportunities designed to support schools in reviewing and enhancing great teaching across the curriculum.

Effective pedagogy underpins all aspects of teaching and learning, whatever the subject, and the Great Teaching Team are passionate about pedagogy... and all things teaching and learning!

The courses are research based and full of practical strategies and ideas for developing great teaching and learning within all classroom settings. They are based on the popular Reflecting on Classroom Practice Audit Tool, which many schools have told us they have found extremely helpful when reviewing teaching and learning in their setting.

As part of our day-to-day support, we regularly team teach alongside colleagues based in school, or deliver demonstration lessons, and are able to bring practical examples to the sessions. If the development of teaching and learning across the school is high on your agenda for school improvement, you may be interested in our very well-received Leading on Great Teaching Package. This ran last year, and we have received very positive feedback from this (see example below).

We have also increased our Bitesize offer. These are one-hour online training sessions, easily accessible to all, which cover one aspect of Great Teaching with practical ideas on how to develop this further.

We run Great Teaching Networks. These are termly and are an opportunity for Teaching and Learning Leads/SLT to meet with like-minded colleagues, receive updates and to leave with a training package ready to share with colleagues back in school.

If you are particularly interested in Rosenshine's Principles of Instruction, why not have a look at the courses designed around these under the Assessment Team offer.

In addition to the information in this brochure, we are regularly adding to our Great Teaching webpage on the LPDS website. In addition to further reading, practical resources and course details, you will also find our new VLOGS offer. These can be viewed individually or may be useful to promote discussion in staff meetings.

Thank you for taking time to read this and enjoy developing Great Teaching in the year to come.

"Buying into the package has allowed us to concentrate on elements of teaching & learning in small blocks. We have been able to discuss as a staff, trial and feedback. This has then been fed into our T&L Policy. Staff have had some very interesting discussions about what has worked well for them in our setting. They have enjoyed trialling new(and revisiting not-so-new) ideas; it has re-enthused them...It has empowered different staff members, supported by SLT, and assisted with using the elements that fit our setting underpinned by sound educational research."

"Made me really reflect on areas for improvement and on how we could improve as a school." Headteacher

History

Our goal is to support schools in delivering a high-quality history education that will help pupils gain a coherent knowledge and understanding of Britain's past and that of the wider world. Through our excellent research-based CPD, we aim to provide bespoke training, with both international, national, and distinctive Lancashire elements, that will inspire pupils' curiosity to know more about the past.

Below, and on the following pages, you will find a range of CPD opportunities available to you for primary history over the next academic year.

Our New to Primary History Subject Leadership course is designed to give an overview of primary history for new subject leaders delivered within the inspiring surroundings of Lancashire Archives.

Our termly History Subject Leader Network Meetings have a proven track record of delivering cutting-edge ongoing CPD that develop our history subject leaders into excellent leaders at the forefront of teaching and leading history. Each session includes key updates and a fully resourced exemplar sequence of learning that leaders can adapt for in-school training.

Assessment and Progression in Primary History supports teachers in understanding how to develop assessment from the planning process to accomplished final outcomes that allow children to draw connections with prior learning and justify a stand or decision.

Concept Mapping in Primary History is designed to support subject leaders as they seek to develop their school curriculum in a progressive and coherent way using key concepts from EYFS to Year 6.

How to Write Like a Historian examines the process of speaking, listening, and reading into writing within primary history. During the course, subject leaders develop an understanding around writing in subject-specific forms, such as historical arguments or causal narratives, and how children can explain, develop, and refine ideas within these texts.

Our NEW Reading and Storytelling in Primary History course brings together our Lancashire heritage team, a local published historical fiction author and our own inspirational teaching and learning consultant to examine the importance of reading, stories, and storytelling within primary history.

We look forward to meeting you during the academic year!

Steven Kenyon

Welcome to the 2024/2025 Mathematics Course offer. On the following pages, you will find the wide range of CPD opportunities available to you over the next academic year.

We have our termly subject leader network sessions which cover a range of subject leader issues and mathematics CPD to take back to school. An essential for keeping 'in the loop', these courses take place both in venues and online to provide flexibility for busy teachers.

For those looking for a complete immersion in mathematics subject leadership, we also offer a two-day course on Leading Maths Effectively to provide all the skills and knowledge needed for new subject leaders or those looking for a skills and knowledge refresher. Subject leaders waiting for an inspection, might want to consider the course on Preparing for an Ofsted Inspection, everything you need to prepare effectively for a deep dive in one afternoon.

For those working in nursery classes or schools, we have a brand new course this year focused on planning a mathematics curriculum in nursery. Based on research around early mathematical development, this course will help teachers to develop a cohesive and progressive mathematical journey for their children.

Also new to the course programme this year are a set of courses focused on ensuring children are ready for the next stage of their education. These three courses are focused on the key transition points of EYFS to Year 1, Year 2 to Year 3 and Year 6 to Year 7.

In terms of mathematical assessment, for Year 4 teachers we offer a half day course – Full Marks in the Year 4 Multiplication Tables Check – which looks at how children can effectively learn and, more importantly, retain their multiplication facts. For Year 6 teachers, we offer the Success in SATs course which will provide teachers with everything they need to know to make sure the children are well prepared and grounded for May.

Some of our previous courses have moved to on demand modules to make them even easier to access, these will be arriving soon and we'll be shouting about them on social media when they are ready.

Finally, as well as our full day courses for teachers using Red Rose Mastery Maths, this year we are also offering FREE half termly online drop in sessions after school to answer any questions that teachers may have.

Personal, Social and Health Education

The PSHE consultant (Jen Macdonald) is excited to offer a Continuing Professional Development (CPD) course package designed to empower educators in delivering high-quality PSHE education.

As new statutory guidance emerges, our CPD offer will adapt and expand, ensuring that schools in Lancashire (and beyond) can confidently implement the latest recommendations and best practices in PSHE.

Our CPD offer is comprehensive, providing personalised support through one-to-one consultations and service level agreement (SLA) support to ensure bespoke advice to meet the needs of your individual setting. These tailored services ensure that each school receives the specific guidance and resources they need to develop and enhance their PSHE provision in a way that best suits their individual needs.

Our consultant is committed to working closely with schools to address their unique challenges and goals, ensuring effective and sustainable PSHE education.

Networking opportunities are a key component of our CPD offer and are included in the SLA package. Colleagues across the county will have the chance to connect, share experiences, and learn from each other. These networking sessions not only provide valuable professional development but also allow for a collaborative community of PSHE leads who are dedicated to continuous improvement. Staying current with the latest CPD developments, these networks empower schools to remain confident and competent in their PSHE delivery.

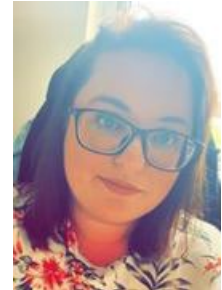

All of our CPD sessions are underpinned by rigorous educational research. Our PSHE consultant, who leads these sessions, brings a wealth of experience and expertise, supporting teachers across all phases of education—from early years to secondary school. Delegates will gain insights into the latest research and how it can be applied in their classrooms, making a real difference in students’ learning and wellbeing.

Our CPD program covers a wide range of topics, including mental health and wellbeing, relationships and sex education, and personal safety. By addressing these critical areas, we aim to equip educators with the knowledge and tools they need to support their students effectively.

Join us at our network meetings and courses to advance your PSHE provision and make a meaningful difference in your students’ lives.

Curriculum design for PSHE needs to consider the local area; identified needs from health data; the values and ethos of school and much more.

Recording of PSHE needs to be able to capture evidence of a broad and balanced topic coverage but be able to demonstrate learning.

Assessment of PSHE needs to demonstrate the learning that has taken place and reflect how the learning is preparing pupils for their lives in Modern Britain.

PSHE underpins much of the teaching and learning in other subjects as well as feeding into the wider personal development programme provided by schools.

An SLA allows individual school support to identify strengths in PSHE and personal development, and action plan how to take the school forward effectively in line with the statutory requirements for RSE and Health Education.

What the Service Level Agreement includes for schools:

- Up to half a day consultancy visit with PSHE leads, personal development leads or curriculum leads.
- A paid-for-place per school for 3x termly network meetings held across the county or online.
- NEW A termly newsletter for SLA schools which focuses on local updates, signposting, case studies, good practice and more!
- Inclusion on a mailing list for sharing new resources, events and key messages.
- Ongoing email and telephone support for schools to answer queries.
- Access to various documents, policy templates, sample lesson plans etc.
- Online booking system for visits to make it easier to find a time that suits school.

Cost £495 per year (running on the fiscal calendar)

Science

Welcome to the 2024/2025 Science Course offer. Below, and on the following pages, you will find the wide range of CPD opportunities available to you over the next academic year. Along with our core science courses, this year we have included a few new options for an even wider offer of support.

For the first year for a while, we are hosting a huge science conference on Sustainability and Climate Action titled 'What Can We Do and Why Does It Matter'. This is aimed at SLT and subject leads to support schools to be ready for the new DfE statutory requirements for 2025 regarding Climate Action Plans and Sustainability Leads. With national representatives from the Digital Nature Park, University of Central London (the designated provider of sustainability CPD for teachers), The Climate Ambassador program and advice from local and national bodies for bespoke action planning, the day will inspire schools to make a difference in this crucial decade for our planet.

Rachael Webb

In autumn we have an exciting new course on offer; 'Teaching Science Through Drama' delivered by national expert and author David Allen. Consider how to excite children's curiosity, develop their conceptual understanding, and explore how drama can be used for assessment and retrieval practice. To make this more accessible for all school budgets, we are running this as a half-day course and have booked it on the same half-day as the popular Science Network Meeting in Autumn to make cover back in school more convenient.

The Science SL Network meetings will continue to run each term with updates from Ofsted and key national initiatives along with ideas for new teaching strategies and exciting new resources. Keep up to date, share good practice with colleagues and discuss science strategies in use in different schools. The Network Meetings will again be in the afternoons except for the autumn version which will now be in the morning followed by the drama course in the afternoon. (Each event can be booked separately). We look forward to welcoming new and familiar faces to the sessions this year and please do get in touch if you are keen to present at a SL Network Meeting to share some amazing work you have developed in your school or if you have a specific question which can be addressed at one of the updates.

This year the science consultant is teaming up with experts from SEERIH, The Science and Engineering Research and Innovation Hub at The University of Manchester to bring you some new courses on Curiosity Cubes and Questioning from EY to Y6, a new EYFS course and an updated Outdoor Learning Course. These are currently in development and will be advertised throughout the year via the LPDS Facebook page, through the Courses Booking Portal, Courses - Lancashire Professional Development Service and via the SL Network Meetings. These courses will be held in a school venue with the added benefit of observing another setting to share good practice.

School support can also be accessed through 1:1 consultancies and staff twilight and INSET sessions. These can be bespoke to your school's specific needs and priorities.

Stretch and Challenge for All

Welcome to the 2024/2025 Stretch and Challenge for All (formerly More Able and Talented) course offer. Below you will find the range of CPD opportunities available to you over the next academic year. Despite Ofsted no longer naming this group, these children are still part of our classes and often require specific approaches to teaching and learning.

Specific subjects may be offering professional development opportunities for these children whereas these sessions look at more general approaches to school provision, ensuring that all pupils are challenged appropriately. These professional development opportunities focus primarily on leadership for these pupils within school and include a chance for schools to network and discuss provision across different phases, including EYFS, primary and secondary.

Our termly network meetings are the main source of support for schools with inputs from a variety of sources, including external agencies, and will aim to keep schools informed of up-to-date guidance and strategies for stretch and challenge across numerous curriculum areas.

Our courses will also link to invaluable resources that we will share or signpost to, helping schools to provide the best educational experiences for all pupils.
