CITIZENCARD
CitizenCard Security Features

There are many ways you can verify whether a CitizenCard is genuine. For physical checks of a CitizenCard you will see that the card is completely smooth and displays the PASS hologram endorsed by the Home Office. In addition, the card displays the logos of the Police and the Security Industry Authority which give their full support to the scheme. All CitizenCards issued from March 2023 feature a holographic overlay on card reverses to strengthen the physical security of our cards and to make them easier to verify as genuine. The holographic overlay is a transparent laminate that is applied to the back of the card over the cardholder details. The below elements and effects make up the overlay.

CitizenCard Issues the following card types:

1. CitizenCard logo with purple 'i'
2. Expiry date
3. Colour photo
4. PASS Hologram
5. Rose guilloche pattern
6. National Police Chief's Council (NPCC) and Security Industry Authority (SIA) logos
7. Age band
8. PASS logo revealed under UV light

PASS Card Verify App

Check a PASS card issued by CitizenCard
MyIDCard
Post Office
Totum
Young Scot is valid.

All genuine PASS Cards can be confirmed as valid via the PASS Card Verify app which is free to download and use from both Apple and Google Play stores (see QR code below). The app has carried out more than half a million checks to validate 300,000+ cards as genuine with 90,000 cards identified as fakes. This enables licensees and door staff to remove these cards from circulation.

The PASS Card Verify App does not validate government issued documents (such as passports or driving licences) but does verify all national PASS cards including CitizenCards, Post Office PASS cards, MyIDCards, Totum, and Young Scot cards.

National PASS cards can be validated using this app. Select the card to check:
